Abstract: Welcome to the December issue of News in Conservation. In this issue: NiC explores the concept of intangible heritage in relation to preservation and conservation with an article written by Nikolaos Maniatis and Georgios Panagiaris. Leanne Tonkin provides an interesting report on the third in a series of workshops focusing on cleaning acrylic surfaces. The workshop reviewed, CAPS3, was held at Tate. For the forthcoming IIC AGM meeting, to be held in January 2013, NiC is showcasing the manifestoes of the candidates standing for election or re-election. If you are a member of IIC remember to vote! Lastly, this issue of NiC contains the first in a series of IIC reviews of conservation journals and periodicals available in languages other than English. NiC wishes all readers and IIC members a very happy festive season!
