Santuario arqueológico y Museo de Pachacamac

Located in the Lurin Valley, south of Lima, the sanctuary is one of the most important pilgrimage centres of the pre-Hispanic period, with occupancies dated back to 5,000 BC. It is an exceptional testimony of the civilizational process in the central Andean area and the continuity of this process, as it brings together material expressions from different societies and cultures that occupied, during various times and continuously, the territory of the central Andean coast.

Sitio Arqueológico Mateo Salado

The site was an administrative-ceremonial centre built by the Ichma people (1100 – 1450 AD) and later occupied by the Incas (1450 – 1532 AD). It gets its name from the Frenchman Matheus Salade, who arrived from Europe in the 16th century and lived as a hermit in the archaeological complex. Conservation efforts have focused on the analysis, development, and application of techniques tailored to address the deterioration of architectural structures.
